Siena New York Poll:

Death Penalty: NY Split; Favor Life Without Parole Hillary: Run for Senate, Not for President Governor's Popularity & Support Continue to Slide

NYers Like Their Legislators; Split on Senate; 2:1 Unfavorable Toward Assembly

Loudonville, NY – By a margin of 46-42 percent, New Yorkers do not want to see the death penalty reinstituted. And by a nearly two-to-one margin (56-29 percent) they favor life without parole over the death penalty for first-degree murderers, according to a new Siena (College) Research Institute poll of New York voters released today.

"Nearly half of New York voters are opposed to reinstituting the death penalty and a clear majority (56 percent) support life without parole as the preferred punishment for first-degree murderers," said Joe Caruso, Director of Polling for the Siena Research Institute (SRI). "Even among death penalty supporters, more than one-quarter (26-61 percent) support life without parole as the most appropriate punishment."

While 58 percent of New Yorkers want to see Hillary Clinton run for re-election to the Senate, only 38 percent believe she should run for President in 2008. Twenty-nine percent of New York voters (50 percent of Republicans) would prefer if she ran for neither office.

"Hillary's popularity continues to run high in New York, with nearly three out of five voters having a favorable opinion of her. One-third of voters say 'run for re-election next year and President two years later.' One-quarter of voters want her to run for Senate but not President. And nearly one third of voters say 'don't run at all,' " Caruso said.

Since last month, Eliot Spitzer's favorable rating inched up to 50-18 percent (up from 48-17 percent), while George Pataki's continues to slide, down to 37-50 percent (from 39-45 percent).

New Yorkers are strengthening their view that the Governor should not run for re-election. Only 24 percent say they would vote to re-elect him, while 60 percent would prefer someone else. This 36 point negative margin has grown from 30 points one month ago (27-57 percent).

Siena New York Poll Tuesday, March 8, 2005 Page 2 of 2

In a head-to-head match up, Spitzer beats Pataki by 23 points (53-30 percent), up from last month's 16 points (51-35 percent).

"Twenty months is a long time, particularly in New York politics, but George Pataki has a lot of ground to make up if he intends to match Governor Rockefeller's run of four terms," Caruso said. "Spitzer continues to do better among Democrats than Pataki does with Republicans and he has a substantial lead with independents at this point. Spitzer leads in every region of the state and with voters of every religion, race and age group."

New York voters have a favorable view of their assemblymember (50-18 percent) and state senator (56-23 percent). They are divided on the State Senate (38-36 percent favorable) but they have a very negative view of the State Assembly (46-21 percent unfavorable).

"New Yorkers love their individual legislators – senators and assemblymembers – which explains the overwhelming re-election rate for incumbents. But they have very different views of the two houses. While there is a very neutral view of the Senate, there is a better than two-to-one unfavorable opinion of the State Assembly," Caruso said. "Interestingly, Democrats and Republicans feel almost exactly the same about each house of the Legislature."

Voters' support increased spending for education (63-33 percent) and health care (61-34 percent) "even if it meant increasing state taxes." Democrats overwhelmingly support both of these proposals and both questions had a majority of Republicans supporting them. Both questions had support in every region and among every demographic group.

New York voters see "improving education" (24 percent) as the most important issue for state government to address, beating out "improving health care" (18 percent), "creating new jobs" (14 percent), and "passing the state budget" (11 percent). Less important were "reforming state government" (6 percent) and "fighting crime" and "protecting the environment" (3 percent each).

"The mood of state voters continues to be very pessimistic about the direction New York is headed in. Only one-quarter of people think things are on the right track, while nearly half believe New York is headed in the wrong direction," Caruso said. "If his own favorability numbers weren't enough to worry George Pataki, certainly the mood of the voters should."

The Empire Page, in partnership with the Siena Research Institute, previously released the results of three questions concerning the recent news coverage of First Lady Libby Pataki and a hypothetical match-up of three potential Republican gubernatorial candidates in 2006.

This SRI survey was conducted February 28-March 4, 2005 by telephone calls to 600 New York State registered voters. It has a margin of error of \pm 4.0 points. For more information or comments, please call Joe Caruso, SRI Director of Polling, at 518-783-2901.
